The Washington Herald's Booklovers' Contest

You Have a Good Chance to Win Any One of These Prizes, Which Amount to $2,500 in Value.

FIRST PRIZE—VALUE, $1,000.

RANDLE HIGHLANDS
CAPITOL OF U.S.
WHITE HOUSE
BUREAU OF LEGATION

The Herald offers for first prize a lot in Thirtieth Street, in Randle Highlands. This lot has a frontage of thirty feet and is surrounded by the best environment in a suburban home. Randle Highlands, as shown by the comparison pyramid herewith, is higher than either the Capitol or the White House. It is about twelve to fifteen minutes from the heart of Washington, and accessible by Pennsylvania Avenue cars. If the winner of the first prize shall be the possessor of a home, he or she shall own a bit of property that has a great investment prospect.

SECOND PRIZE—VALUE, $750.
THE KINGSBURY INNER-PLAYER.

A combination of the favorite Kingsbury Piano and the marvelous Inner-Player action. A creation of concentrated thought and study, of skilled mechanics, men who have given their lives to this science and art of piano and player-piano building. The INNER-PLAYER has many exclusive patented features, among them the Solo Aid Device, which enables the player to play the melody louder than the accompaniment, producing the same solo effects that would be obtained with the hand playing of a great artist. The Kingsbury INNER-PLAYER, which is manufactured by the C. G. Company, one of the largest manufacturers in the world, is being endorsed by prominent artists and musicians for its simplicity, durability, and easy pedal action. On exhibition by the

PERCY S. FOSTER PIANO CO.
1330 G Street Northwest.

THIRD PRIZE—$500 LIBRARY.

Those "booklovers" who love books ahead of all other affection consider the third prize in this contest as the first.

Of course, the winner of this prize will have full opportunity to consult with the Brentano management in the interest of final acquiescence in the prize. As the selection stands now, not a volume that would injure the thinking of a twelve-year-old girl has been permitted. The library has an actual cash value of $500, and will be exhibited at

O'CONNOR'S LICENSE REVOKED.

Charges of Assault Against Special Officer Cause This Action.

The commission of Time by O'Connor as a special officer in the Third precinct was revoked by the District Commissioner yesterday afternoon upon the recommendation of Maj. Richard Sylvester, superintendent of police, because he was recently fined $20 in the Police Court for assaulting H. C. Russell on April 12 with a blackjack.

The case was called to the attention of Maj. Sylvester by Capt. Henry Schneider, of the Seventh precinct. The superintendent of police immediately recommended the revocation of O'Connor's commission.

Consequences and Weddings. Have bride provide the flowers and burial decorations. Estimates given, $125.

HUNNICUTT LOSES IN APPEALS COURT

Tribunal Upholds Justice Barnard in Revoking "Parson's" Permit to Marry Couples.

The Court of Appeals has dismissed the appeal filed by G. J. A. Hunnicutt from the decision of Justice Barnard revoking the "parson's" permit to perform marriage ceremonies in the District on the ground that he was not a duly ordained minister of the Gospel and because of the "paper" system he employed in obtaining matrimonial business. The question as to whether Hunnicutt was a regular minister of the Gospel and the fact that he employed "paper" was first brought to public attention by The Washington Herald, after which the Pastors' Federation took up the matter and at a meeting decided to ask the District Supreme Court to revoke Hunnicutt's license.

Rev. W. L. McKenney, pastor of Washington M. E. Church, Fifth and P streets, called the matter to the attention of the federation, and in connection with three other clergymen drew up a resolution asking for the revocation of Hunnicutt's license.

Hunnicutt claimed to be the pastor of the Peoples' Nonsectarian Church, an organization founded by himself and several other men. He was granted a license to marry couples October 24, 1911, and the "rapping" resulted in numerous complaints being made to the court.

DOG SHOW OPENS AT ARCADE TO-DAY

Washington Kennel Club Promises to Have Largest Exhibit in Its History.

The second annual bench show of the Washington Kennel Club will open this morning at 10 o'clock at the Arcade and will continue to-morrow and Friday, opening each day at 10 o'clock in the morning and closing at 10:30 in the evening. With about our hundred dogs on exhibition, any of them prize winners all over the country, the biggest bench show ever given in the National Capital is assured, the bench show committee declared last night.

Everything was in readiness for the show last night, and scores of well-bred dogs from other cities were either sleeping on their benches or in their crates, while many of the local dogs had also been taken to the exhibition hall by their owners so as to be on hand when the show opens this morning. The benches have been placed in the skating rink at the Arcade in long rows, and at one end of the hall is the judging ring. For the convenience of enthusiasts a row of boxes has been arranged in the gallery immediately overlooking the show ring. Seats have been provided for the hundreds of spectators also.

The bench show committee announced yesterday that the judging of bulldogs and of Pomeranians would begin at 2 o'clock this afternoon. There are more bulldogs in the show than any other breed, about thirty in all, and the competition is sure to be keen in these classes, it is said.

More Than 400 Classes.

There are 412 classes to be judged, including the fifty odd breeds shown, and the judging will take place continuously, every morning, afternoon, and evening. The judges are all well-known dog owners and experts on the breeds they will pass upon. The St. Bernards are to be judged by Miss Gertrude Davies, of Red Bank, N. J.; Great Danes, Dr. J. Fletcher Lutz, of Glen Rock, Pa.; American fox hounds, John C. Bentley, of Sandy Spring, Md.; bulldogs, E. A. Singer, of Germantown, Pa.; Boston terriers, William J. Green, of Philadelphia; Pomeranians, Miss Robert Patterson, of Philadelphia; all other breeds, Ben P. Lewis, of Lansdowne, Pa. The superintendent of the show is George P. Foley, of Lansdowne, who has charge of many of the best dogs in the country. The bench show committee consists of Emory M. Wilson, chairman; John P. Shaver, Edward A. Conroy, and Charles A. Watson, secretary.

MAURICE BRICK DIES.

Pioneer Telegraph Operator Victim of Heart Disease.

A victim of heart disease, Maurice Brick, fifty-nine years of age, a pioneer telegraph operator, was found dead in the bathroom of his residence, 2114 Fourteenth Street Northwest, yesterday morning. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mr. Brick was born in New Jersey. He started early in life as a telegraph operator, and during his long service worked in practically every large city in the East and West. He had lived in Washington twenty years, during the most of which time he was employed on the Western Union. Mr. Brick was well known for his perfect penmanship. It was because of his plain round hand that he obtained a position with the old Associated Press Bureau in New York about 1874.

Mr. Brick, a number of years ago, adopted a son, Frank Cox, the son of a former telegraph operator, and friends of his. He had no children of his own.

BOOKLOVERS ARE MAKING HEADWAY

Contestants Reach "Community of Interest" Regarding Certain Difficult Puzzles.

Diversified in many ways as the methods pursued by those engaged in the Booklovers' Contest are, the results are strikingly similar. If a careful analysis of reports which reach The Washington Herald office were made, it would be found that practically all of the leading competitors are experiencing the greatest trouble with the same puzzles, and that the great majority are of one opinion regarding the relative difficulty and ease of solution of certain other puzzles. There is a certain community of interests thus established, and the contestants are encouraged to concentrate on the most difficult "nuts" given them to crack. As the contest progresses, this community of interests will doubtless increase, for there are certain puzzles in the contest which are certain to prove the hardest of solution.

The contest has now settled down into its mid course. The interest is still on the increase, for newcomers are reported every day, determined to make up for lost time with undying energy and perseverance. The puzzles as announced from day to day are studied with intense interest, and it is a common statement that no more popular test of skill, wit, and ingenuity could possibly be devised. One of the surprising features of the contest is that with many it is a real "labor of love," for while they have sufficient time to get into the race for the prizes in real earnest, they find the contest a diversion and a mental recreation which they would not willingly forego.

The following are the three main prizes offered to the successful contestants: The first prize will be a $1,000 building lot in that charming suburb Randle Highlands. It is a good investment value from any point of view, and will be eagerly sought after by many hundreds in the contest.

A Kingsbury inner-piano player, manufactured by the C. G. Company and valued at $750, is the second prize. Percy S. Foster, of the Percy S. Foster Company, 1330 G Street Northwest, selected it for The Washington Herald. The third prize is a $500 collection of books, selected by W. W. Norman, manager of the Brentano's, at Twelfth and F Streets Northwest. The library represents a wide variety and is certain to meet all tastes.

Eighty cash prizes, in the form of credits at the Citizens Savings Bank, will be given as "consolation prizes," the value aggregating $250.

MRS. GAGE PLEADS GUILTY.

Sentenced to Give $300 Bonds to Keep the Peace.

Mrs. Mary E. Gage, of 4 Dupont Circle, yesterday pleaded guilty to making threats of personal violence against a prominent banker before Judge Muldowney, who imposed sentence that the defendant furnish $300 bonds to keep the peace, with alternate sentence of sixty days in Occoquan. Attorney Helva Lockwood, counsel for Mrs. Gage, immediately furnished the required real estate bond and Mrs. Gage left the courtroom accompanied by her daughter, Miss Margaret C. Gage, who has stood so loyally by her mother during all her tribulations growing out of her arrest for threats, the lunacy proceedings, and the other troubles resulting from the case.

Mrs. Gage and her daughter will not return to their residence in Dupont Circle for some time. They will make their home for the time future with Mrs. Lockwood.

Amphibious Give Masquerade Carnival The Amphion Glee Club, of which Prof. J. Henry Lewis is director, entertained a large audience last night at Odd Fellows Hall. The occasion was a masquerade concert and carnival. Refreshments were served by the ladies' auxiliary.
